

SEEK NEW FORM OF TAXATION

From the Present Indications Taxes Will Fall Short of Eight Billion.

URGES CHANGE IN PLAN

Ways and Means Committee Wants Bill Producing Six Billions in Revenue.

Washington, July 25.—Some new form of taxation that will raise $2,000,000,000 annually is being sought today by the house ways and means committee. From the most optimistic calculations of probable returns from the taxes the committee is willing to write in the new revenue bill, it is evident that the full amount will fall far short of the $8,000,000,000 demanded by the administration.

Treasury department officials are being urged, while the committee searches for new sources for revenue, to relent and agree to a bill that will produce only $6,000,000,000. If the administration insists, however, it is admitted that a way to raise the money must be found.

The scale of excess profit taxes ranging from 30 to 80 per cent. already adopted by the committee, coupled with the inheritance income and corporation rates tentatively approved will produce only $4,000,000,000—approximately the amount returned from the last revenue bill. Taxes proposed by the treasury department in its "luxury list" will return $2,000,000,000. The luxury list, however, meets with little favor in the committee and certainly will not be adopted in its entirety.

The remaining $2,000,000,000 could be raised by consumption taxes, but the levying of such taxes would be in direct violation of the president's declaration that the revenues shall be given by those best able to pay.

Consequently the committee is looking for some new form of taxation. It is emphatically asserted that no matter how hard pressed, the committee will never assent to a tax on idle lands. Doubting that the scheme is constitutional, members refused to consider it. It developed today that some members of the committee are contending for higher exemptions for extra-hazardous businesses, such as the oil and gas industries, which would tend further to reduce the amounts to be returned. The proposal that the treasury be given power to give flexibility to the law by the appointment of a board of adjustment also is being considered.

The committee is counting upon liquor taxes to return nearly $1,000,000,000. In the face of the threat that nationwide prohibition legislation may have been enacted before the revenue bill is written into law, the committee will insist upon calculating huge returns from liquor taxes. The enactment of prohibition thus would reduce the returns from the revenue bill $1,000,000,000 at one fell swoop.

Those who contend that the new bill should not return more than $6,000,000,000, base their contention on the assertion that the administration cannot possibly spend more than $18,000,000,000 for our own war needs during the next fiscal year. Granting this, a $6,000,000,000 bill would raise one-third of our war expenses by taxation. The remainder could be raised by bonds. President Wilson has set 33-1-3 per cent. taxation to 65-2-3 per cent. bonds as the correct proportion.

CORRESPONDENT SAYS GERMANS NOT DEFEATED.

Says The Fact That Enemy Holds North Bank of Marne is Proof.

London, July 27.—Discussing the latest operations and the German position within the Marne salient, Reuters' correspondent with the American troops in France under date of Friday says it is well to remember that the Germans still hold the north bank of the Marne for some eight miles from Vincennes to Reuil. This has not been disputed with them yet.

This alone, he adds, is proof that the enemy is not in a very desperate hurry to withdraw from the salient, if it is not also a hint that he has a large accumulation of stores near the river which it is difficult to remove.

"The French guns in this sector," the correspondent continues, "continually are exploding great dumps of ammunition which reveals how thick they are."

"The early success of the French counter-attack has bred a disposition to expect further rapid advances and perhaps huge captures, but the fighting in the salient offers to the aggressor only the advantage obtainable from the enemy's congested condition."

"Our progress, the past week gave the enemy ample time to begin reorganization outside the salient. We are not likely to go much further without discovering a disposition to withstand us."

We may regard with some suspicion the enemy's intentions along the river front. His position may not be an enviable one, but there are positions in it not unfavorable to an attack."

Secretary of War Baker

Makes possible a complete and graphic description of our army of more than 2,000,000 men in

Hearst's Atlanta American

the four Sundays in August

An amazing record of achievement prepared through the aid of Secretary Baker, who himself wrote the introduction, in which he said: "He who sets out to chronicle this history will set down facts of inestimable value to the generations that will come. I will welcome such an undertaking, and will assist it in so far as I may with all the information which may be safely published without risk of carrying comfort to the enemy."

Here is history while it is yet fresh and available from original sources—as fascinating as any romance—Storage houses built in France would, end to end, extend 250 miles. Our home cantonments would house entire population of five States.

NEWTON D. BAKER.

In England, France, Italy, leaders whose own experience recognizes the miracle the United States has wrought are unstinted in their praise. In this country, too, those who KNOW are too busy to waste energy in criticism. But find the man who doesn't know and isn't helping—and you will far too often find a man willing even to close a battle to prove his Government wrong.

"If we continue to succeed," says Secretary Baker in the July issue of Hearst's Magazine, "it will be because millions of Americans continue to give us their aid."

Are you one of those millions of loyal Americans? Do you really know about the War Department? Do you innocently believe whatever people tell you about our Army—YOUR Army—or do you make an effort to get the facts?

To Secretary Baker, as to Secretary Daniels and to others who are making our Nation the chief figure in the world's most magnificent enterprise, Hearst's Sunday American offers a chance to address 100,000 loyal American readers, and—through this great audience—an opportunity to fling the Truth full in the face of the puny pessimists, petty politicians, subsidized Newspapers, and professional Faultfinders.

If you don't wish to think well of your own Government, you won't want Hearst's Atlanta American next Sunday or any other. But if you want the truth and really prefer to be patriotic—to know the BEST about your country—you won't fail to read the description of Our New American Army starting August 4
